
IN MEMORIAM: PROFESSOR JOSEPH J. CORDES

One of the biggest supporters of our Policy Perspectives journal was Professor Joe Cordes, who passed away on Feb. 26. His loss is a huge loss for our community.

Joe was foundational in creating our TSPPPA community. He served as Associate Director and Director of our School, and earlier as Chair of the Economics Department and Associate Dean for CCAS. He was very key in establishing the Regulatory Studies Center here in our school. And he was also a long-time elected member of the GW Faculty Senate.

Joe was always very supportive of our faculty, students, and alumni, and served on many doctoral dissertations. He was so delighted to see our alumni thrive - he was an avid Facebook follower!

He consistently demonstrated his great compassion for our community and our work.

Speaking personally, Joe was one of the most brilliant people I have ever known, and quite a dedicated feminist. He was also extremely devoted to his family.

Joe will be sorely missed by the many, many colleagues whose lives he touched.

Kathryn Newcomer
Director, The Trachtenberg School of Public Policy and Public Administration